The Superb Bechstein Piano.

The BECHSTEIN—
the highest development
yet attained in the piano maker's art.

It is on account of the FULL RICH TONE of the beautiful BECHSTEIN PIANO and its RESPONSIVE TOUCH, that the world's most famous musicians are loud in their praise and warm in their appreciation of its superior musical qualities.

THE BECHSTEIN PIANO is faultless in construction, being made by men of life-long experience, of materials that have been specially chosen for their great durability and we guarantee it to withstand any climatic influences. Its appearance is artistic and attractive and it is handsomely finished.

If you require the world's very finest piano for your home, investigate the merits of the BECHSTEIN at PALING'S.

If it is not convenient for you to visit our Show Rooms, please write for our descriptive Catalogue and Price Lists—they are post free. We take old Pianos in exchange and sell on easy terms if desired.

A thousand times this number of Physicians endorse

SANATOGEN The Royal Tonic Food.

Sir Charles A. Cameron,
C.B., M.D., etc.,

writes: "Sanatogen is a substance of the highest nutritive value, containing, as it does, a large amount of organic phosphorus, in exactly the form in which it can be easily absorbed. It is an excellent nerve food."

"The Medical Times"

says: "There is no doubt whatever that the nutrition of patients taking Sanatogen improves wonderfully, due, in all probability, to its being easy of assimilation and to the organic, absorbable phosphorus which it contains."

Prof. Dr. C. A. Ewald,

of Berlin University, writes: "I have used Sanatogen in a number of cases, mainly of a nervous or neurasthenic origin, and have obtained excellent results."

"The General Practitioner"

says: "It is probably in cases of weakening or exhaustion of the nervous system, accompanied by various forms of mental and bodily inefficiency, that Sanatogen proves most life-giving. Rest, an outdoor life, and Sanatogen will often effect a cure."

Over twelve thousand practising physicians have recorded in writing their high opinion of Sanatogen, and many thousands more are daily prescribing it with the most beneficial results in cases of nervous weakness, brain-fag, lack of vitality, sleeplessness, disordered digestion, poverty of blood and various wasting diseases.

Can you ask for more convincing testimony of Sanatogen's value than the fact that it is thus publicly endorsed and recommended by practically the whole medical profession?

When you are constantly weary in mind and body; when your brain is overworked; when your nerves are jaded—that is when you need Sanatogen to rebuild and revitalize you.

Among the original letters in praise of Sanatogen which are filed for public inspection there are many from world-famous physicians whose names stand for the highest scientific achievements. Their advice, and the example of distinguished men like those mentioned here, it is safe for you to follow.

Irresistible as this evidence is, the reader can only realise the wonderful revivifying effects of Sanatogen by taking it himself when his nervous system and bodily strength have been undermined by overwork, worry or disease.

TEST SANATOGEN YOURSELF!

Write for a free booklet, entitled "The Art of Living," by Dr. Andrew Wilson, to the manufacturers, Messrs. A. Wulff & Co., 17 Bond-street, Sydney, N.S.W., who will be pleased to send it you, gratis and post free, on mentioning this paper.

Sanatogen can be obtained of all Chemists, in tins of three sizes.

Lord Ronald Sutherland-Gower

writes: "I feel it only due to the benefit conferred on my general health by Sanatogen to write to inform those interested in that wonderful medicine that it has done me far more good than all the waters of Bath and Harrogate."

Madame Clara Butt,

the famous Contralto, writes: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the very great benefit I have derived from using Sanatogen during my professional work. It certainly has proved one of the best restoratives I know of."

Mr. W. Rhodes,

the famous English Cricketer, writes: "I have given Sanatogen a good trial and found it a splendid tonic. Am very fond of it, especially taken in hot milk."

Mr. Marshall Hall,

K.C., M.P., writes: "I think it only right to say that I have tried Sanatogen, and I believe it to be a most excellent food."

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

With her eyes fixed on the figure of the man who had just entered the room, she saw that he was not the same as before. He was older, his hair was grayer, and his face was lined with the marks of a long and arduous life.

For one brief moment he thought she was about to leave, and he felt a pang of regret. But she did not move. She stood there, looking at him with a steady gaze, and he felt that he was being judged. He felt that she was seeing through him, and he felt that he was being exposed.

TRADES AND LABOUR.

GAS MEN'S WAGES.

MASS MEETING TO-MORROW.

It has been decided by the council of the Gas Employees' Union that the position in respect to the claim for an all-round increase of 10 per cent. shall be considered by a mass meeting of members. The meeting will be held at the Trades Hall to-morrow night.

NO BOY LABOUR.

BUILDERS' LABOURERS' FIRM. There will be trouble in the building trade if boy labour is introduced. This question has received much attention by the Builders' Labourers' Federation. The New South Wales branch has discussed it in connection with the report upon the wages board award recently issued in Adelaide. This award made provision for an unlimited number of boys. If, however, the N.S.W. Union has its way, it will not apply to this State, and according to the president of the Federation (Mr. Miller) it will have no general application to the Commonwealth.

NO NON-UNIONISTS.

BUILDING TRADERS' DECISION. The building trades, which have an alliance with the Builders' Labourers' Federation, are about to take a stand against the employment of non-unionists. The Trades Hall has decided to call a special meeting to deal with the matter.

TELEPHONE TROUBLES.

MINISTER TO NEGOTIATE. The interview which the night staff of the telephone department had yesterday with the Deputy Postmaster-General was reported in all probability. The Minister (Mr. Frazar) who arrived in Sydney yesterday morning, will see the boys before he is returning to Melbourne. He has promised the staff that he will be prepared to bear their complaints at 11 a.m. to-day.

STOREMEN'S FEDERATION.

The Shop Assistants' Union is opposing the registration of the Storemen's Federation under the Commonwealth Arbitration Act, on the ground that certain storemen work in connection with shops, should belong to the Shop Employees' Union. Mr. T. Miller, secretary of the Federation, has been asked to interview the Registrar.

RAILWAY WORKERS.

The Railway Workers' General Labourers' Association, which has a membership in the South Wales of 9000, has established a city branch.

WATER BOARD'S EMPLOYEES.

The Granville branch of the Amalgamated Engineers' Society drew the attention of the Water Board to the fact that a blacksmith in the employ of the board was only receiving the Water Board's minimum wage of 50 pence per week, whereas the ruling rate was 65 pence. The president of the society, Mr. J. H. Smith, pointed out that if this man demanded the same rate of pay as outside men got they would have to give it to him, but he would be subject to the same conditions as outside men. That was, he must not expect all the privileges of the board's employees now received.

STREET FLUSHING.

COUNCIL AND WATER BOARD. The president of the Water Board (Mr. Miller) reported at the meeting of that body yesterday that the Water Board had recently received a report from the City Council with regard to the free use of water for flushing. The report stated that the Water Board should be charged 10 pence per gallon for the use of water for flushing. The Water Board had replied that the rate should be 10 pence per gallon. The Council had agreed to this rate. The Water Board had agreed to this rate. The Council had agreed to this rate.

WHAT'S IN THE DUST?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. Sir—Under the above heading you reported the result of the motion tabled by me at the health committee meeting of the City Council on Monday, and whilst your report is in every way a fair one, it does not convey to the public the importance of the matter, or the danger, if it is not dealt with, to the health of the city. I am, therefore, sending you a copy of the following from "Baker's" Municipal Chemistry, just published, and it may be of use to the public. It is a book of 100 pages, and it is a book of 100 pages. ## The Sydney Morning Herald.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1912.

PUBLIC BUSINESS.

In the Federal Parliament the session has gone, and business has become so congested that in future the House of Representatives is to meet at half-past one o'clock on Wednesday and Thursday mornings to grapple with it. The list of bills indicated to be passed has staggered the Opposition, and Mr. Cook protested vigorously that it was nothing but a political orgy. After Mr. Deakin had declared his conviction that there was not sufficient legislation, deal properly with the proposed measures to consider the measures to understand what is involved. The Government intends apparently to put through the Navigation Bill, which is now in committee, the Referendum Bill, a bill dealing with the proposed alterations to the Constitution, the distribution of Seats Bill, and a dozen others of various sorts and sizes. It will be seen that there is work for a whole session in this programme, which, indeed, could figure in a Governor's address to the Legislature. In addition to the speech, and require a session of an interesting nature. Yet the closing months of the year are to be loaded and crushed with all this intended legislation, and the Opposition is not to know what is coming until each bill is presented at its head. This is the reason why the Opposition follows the same practice. Yesterday in the Legislative Assembly it was impossible to find out, until the word was actually given from the Treasury benches, what business was to be brought forward. Ministers either could not remember what they were expected to bring forward, or when Mr. Edey proposed to carry through the second reading of the Miners' Compensation Amending Bill, Mr. Wood rose to make forcible protest. He complained that members were expected to carry all the details of a dozen bills in their heads, and that Ministers sprang upon them, and that they were expected to proceed as though the fullest notice had been given. This way of carrying on the work of Parliament is simply reducing legislation to a farce, and the mockery becoming greater as we know that there is no dividing of the House to listen to Opposition speeches or Ministerial explanations. The Government does not trouble to keep a House, and Labour members evidently think that they have done all that is required of them by dividing of the House to listen to Opposition speeches or Ministerial explanations. The Government does not trouble to keep a House, and Labour members evidently think that they have done all that is required of them by dividing of the House to listen to Opposition speeches or Ministerial explanations.

the long run. But it is clear that very many defences in our civil life will have to be made, and many important public works will have to be undertaken, and the body comes into being. The importance of spreading these undertakings over a prolonged period in order that full advantage may be taken of the changes in the money market is obvious. One other matter seems to require consideration, looking to the future, and not reflecting on the good faith or capacity of Lord Mayors in the past or present, the desirability of placing a more effective responsibility in the hands of the council through its finance committee in these matters needs discussion. The importance of the council may possibly be enlarged municipally, whose financial affairs will need the fullest and freest control.

STATE SOCIALISM.

A quite interesting development of the State socialism idea is the determination of Western Australia to engage directly in the meat industry, and to control both the ships that must bring the necessary commodity from the Eastern States and the shops that are to retail it where it is most required. There are, of course, special considerations in the case which may possibly justify the course that is being taken. It is not easy to lay down any hard and fast rule as to State enterprise, and the principal criticism that can be passed upon any display of State socialism is that it must justify itself by results. There are two general considerations raised by the case in point. No doubt, wherever, from one cause or another, private enterprise fails to meet a demand, the State is justified in intervening and supplying the want. It would be absurd nowadays to take too narrow a view of the State's power, and in Australia, more particularly, we have come to rely more and more upon Government intervention. It is true that there are those of us who do not think that this is altogether a good thing. There are dangers in State intervention which commerce that cannot be avoided, however careful an Administration may be. But we have to a large extent accepted the principle of State intervention in industry, and we must learn to expect more or less surprising developments. The trouble arises when such schemes noticeably interfere with private enterprise, and this seems likely to be so in the present instance. It has often been argued that if we have State railways we might as well have State shipping also. But the two cases are not really parallel. We undertake State railways, partly because of the lack of private enterprise in that direction, and partly because it is at once simpler and cheaper that the State should own the lines. But the case of shipping is really very different. With railways we can command a virtual or an actual monopoly. It is impossible to have a monopoly in shipping, and any attempt to do so must only end in disaster to all concerned.

We have no wish to prejudice the special merits of the case in point, but it is obviously a fairly logical sequence that if one State goes in for steamship owning other States have the right to do so, too. It is easy to anticipate the confusion likely to arise should the example of Western Australia be followed by the Eastern States. There is nothing to prevent a cut-throat competition for freight and passengers as between State and another, and as soon as that happened we might say goodbye to not a few companies, which have their money invested in Australian shipping. Railways, indeed, are difficult enough propositions, but ships and their freight are a thousand times more difficult to handle, and the average rate on the sea is shown sufficiently by the low rates of profit obtainable from Australian trade. Apart from the fact that this fluctuates enormously with the seasons, it is also true that the proposed law would very unfairly limit the rate of interest on the sea. It will, in fact, depend in the main upon local conditions. It is curious that in a matter of this kind we should not be able to realise that all depends upon the details of the case. A merely doctrinaire attitude may or may not be the result.

It is almost incredible that the men who are so ready to assent to such a proposition as that which involved in this revolt of the Musicians' Union. The disaster to art is, of course, merely a secondary consideration. The union is purely an industrial affair, out for industrial ends. Its contributions to art are as incidental as the contributions of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra to the Sydney Opera House. The union is purely an industrial affair, out for industrial ends. subsidy should be increased, and the question has arisen whether the Government should not take over the whole of the cost of these institutions, or, at any rate, provide a larger grant which would enable it to a greater voice in their management than it at present possesses. Mr. Flowers is frankly in favour of complete nationalisation, but, very fairly, he is not inclined to let his own ideas affect the question in any way. It is a signal of a fine, whatever we are pointed out a few days ago, no delicate step should be taken until it has been thoroughly ventilated and considered from all possible aspects. A matter of such vital concern is entirely above consideration of party or politics, and of all the suggestions put forward, that of Mr. Flowers seems to be the most sound one. He proposes that a Royal Commission should be appointed, which would include representatives of the hospitals, the medical profession, the business community, and the general public who, after inquiry, would report on what they consider the best course to pursue. This would ensure that every interest is represented; it will also ensure that the question receives proper attention before any change is made. There are, of course, many who are not personal opinions in the matter, the proposal of Mr. Flowers is one that cannot be objected to, and if we have the welfare of our hospitals at heart, it is one that should be eagerly welcomed.

and the medical profession, which threatened to become serious. At the request of the friendly societies I asked the British Medical Association to meet them at a conference. The British Medical Association readily assented, and at the request of both parties I presided, adopting a neutral attitude. On the subject of his free public dispensary proposal Mr. Flowers said that the conference was divided. "A number agreed that the friendly societies' dispensaries could be used for the purpose," he said, "but a number were of the opinion that the matter should be left to the Government. I have not yet put forth any definite proposal. I understand that the B.M.A. at one of its council meetings discussed the matter, but I am quite sure the discussion was not unfriendly to myself, and I understand that no decision was made, because no definite scheme was proposed. It is and the matter takes shape, I think will have to be dealt with by Cabinet later on. The very best feeling," Mr. Flowers added, "exists between myself and the British Medical Association."

Early Closing Bill.—Apparently some of the Government supporters are growing uneasy with regard to the provisions of the Early Closing Bill as originally drafted. One of the latest suggestions is that the Bill should be amended so that the Government should have a say in the matter. The Bill as originally drafted, the Government would have a say in the matter. ## ROYAL COMMISSION SUGGESTED.

MR. FLOWERS WOULD PRESIDE.

In view of the serious financial position in which the larger public hospitals in the State find themselves, it is not unlikely that the Government will be asked to appoint a Royal Commission to inquire into the matter of putting general hospital affairs on a more satisfactory basis. Mr. Flowers, Vice-President of the Executive Council, who is the Minister in charge of hospitals, stated yesterday that he would be prepared to preside over a Royal Commission to inquire into the matter of putting general hospital affairs on a more satisfactory basis. Mr. Flowers, Vice-President of the Executive Council, who is the Minister in charge of hospitals, stated yesterday that he would be prepared to preside over a Royal Commission to inquire into the matter of putting general hospital affairs on a more satisfactory basis.

While Mr. Flowers is known to personally favour the principle of nationalisation of hospitals, he admits that such a revolution is a very serious matter, and that it is not a matter to be taken lightly. He is, however, in favour of a Royal Commission to inquire into the matter of putting general hospital affairs on a more satisfactory basis. ## CITY ELECTIONS.

CAMPAIGN STARTS.

LABOUR'S AMBITION.

The forthcoming municipal elections for the City Council, which are to take place on December 2, promise to be the most interesting yet held, owing to the fact that the Labour party intends on the one hand to get control of the council, and on the other hand to get control of the council. The platform of the league covers a wide range, including the questions of housing, municipal control of gas, ferries, and lighting, day labour with preference to unions, and control of rents. It is considered not at all unlikely, if the vote is taken under the conditions of self franchise, as is expected, that the prediction of the Labour leaders that the party will "sweep the polls" will be verified.

There will be candidates in every ward, but all the Labour balloters have not yet been completed. In the Belmore Ward the Lord Mayor (Alderman G. T. Clarke) and Alderman English will be opposed by Mr. Scott. The most interesting of the fights will be those in the Marquarie and Cook wards. In the former Alderman Lindsay Thompson and Hagen, the sitting members, will have a strong opposition in Mr. Hagen. In the latter, the sitting member of the Council, Mr. Hagen, will have a strong opposition in Mr. Hagen.

For Cook, Alderman J. G. Griffin, a president of the Local Government Association, and a member of the Water Board and Alderman Davoren are being opposed by Mr. A. W. Richards, ex-City Surveyor, who was an Alderman for Cook Ward in 1902 and 1904, and by Mr. McGuinness, Mr. Richards is running on the "Independent" ticket, Mr. McGuinness being a member of the Labour party. Alderman Reg. Harris and Mr. McGuinness are running on the "Independent" ticket, Mr. McGuinness being a member of the Labour party. Alderman Reg.
